boy "came up missing." Some years after, the farmer was passing down East Water street, Milwantee, and saw the name of his cowboy over the door of one of the largest hardware houses in the West.
He walked in and found his boy in the countingmom. He stared a moment on the truant, and then hom. He stared a moment on the truant, and then broke out with: "Hallo, Len, have you found them tows yet?" One can imagine what followed—a matual recognition. It is said the old farmer was pacified without a breach of the peace."

Say not such a one is a drunkard because you have seen him drunk; for one act alone is not sufficient to constitute a vice. The sun stood still once in favor of the victory of Joshua, and was darkened another time in favor of that of our Saviour; yet home will say that the sun is either immovable or dark. St. Peter had not a sanguinary disposition because he once shed blood, nor was he a blusphemer because he once shed blood, nor was he a blusphemer for a vice or a virtue, the action must be habitual; one fight have made some grogress in it. It is, then, an injustice to say that such a man is passionate or a thief, because we have seen him once in a passion or guilty of stealing.
